

[Insert title of invention]Moveable-Bottom Jar

Abstract

The invention comprises a jar or storage container that has a moveable bottom platform with one vertical degree of translation. This will add the ability to move all of the jar's contents up or down, depending on the position of the bottom platform. For example, if some of the contents within the jar are removed then the moveable bottom can be shifted up to a higher location in order to bring the remaining contents back to the top.